HIGHLAND Community Club Newsletter for May 1999

Mitch Kates

Happy springtime Highland Park! I realized recently that we have passed the halfway point of "the year of insanity" - uh, make that the year of my presidency! Forgive me for sounding too much like a politician, but I believe we have made some great strides and have seen some serious changes.

Let's do it by the numbers - our membership level has surpassed the 475 mark. Prior to this year, our numbers had always hovered around the 300-350 level. The area I find most encouraging is the growth of new members. As I tried to point out at the beginning of my tenure, if the community club was going to see any real change it had to come through the advent of new blood - to date we have over 200 new members since September.

There are countless numbers of remarkable people in Highland Park with a myriad of talents and strengths. We are very fortunate to have some incredibly gifted people within our ranks. There are, however, many who fit this portrait that have not previously been members of the community club. It has been pointed out that our club has a history that has not always been viewed as a positive force in our community. We are now starting to see some very gifted new people who are beginning to see the club differently. One good example of new talent within our ranks is Muzz Meyers. A business leader in Shadyside for many years, Muzz has come to see that this club is very much pro-business and will go to any lengths to help establish viable enterprises. In Muzz's "previous life" he had to deal first hand with a community club that did not fully support business growth.

This community club was willing to go to great lengths to support a business that the neighborhood felt was worthy of fighting for. Earlier in the year we attached ourselves to a lawsuit in favor of a new business in the neighborhood. From what we've been told, a community club's involvement in issues like this were usually placed on the opposing side. The Highland Park Community Club may have quietly set a precedent in the City of Pittsburgh.

I stated in my first newsletter article that as president my goal was to change the image of the community club. This club has a long history behind it -- over fifty years. As this city often proves, it takes a long time to change the image or impression of a neighborhood. I must admit, however, there do seem to be many people who are thinking differently about this organization. I haven't heard the word "elitist" in quite a while. That being said, we cannot rest on our laurels. There is still a lot of work to accomplish but I do believe the ground work has been laid.

Although I risk becoming the neighborhood "Pollyanna," we must continue to think positively. We are living in an area that has long been victimized by negativism. To accomplish great things we must continue to see the positive in our community and our neighborhood.

There's still more work to do. Without coming off as too greedy, I ask again for more "new blood." I would like to see more people show up and lend their talents. Like I have threatened in the past, if you don't do more, say like, submitting newsletter articles, you're just leaving the door open for me to take up more space with my drivel!!

Adieu.

Dilworth Traditional Academy, A Neighborhood Landmark

Diane DeNardo

Bob O'Keefe, principal of Dilworth, was the guest speaker at April's HPCC meeting. Mr. O'Keefe came to Dilworth in October from Brashear High School. In keeping with the Traditional Academy emphasis, each day begins in the auditorium where students hear the daily announcements, say the Pledge of Allegiance and are led by a fellow student in the singing of America The Beautiful. After the morning assembly, students attend their regular classes which are supplemented by work in a computer lab and curriculum-oriented field trips. The 300 students in Kindergarten through fifth grade who attend Dilworth wear uniforms and the school population includes both neighborhood children who walk to school and others who are bussed from throughout the city.

Mr. O'Keefe has met with Dell Ziegler in regards to the plantings that already exist in the school's front yard and plans for future designs. The school is a historic landmark, which was recently renovated by the Pittsburgh Board of Education. Mr. O'Keefe invites the local community to visit the school at any time and welcomes ideas on how to involve the school in our community.

Mr. O'Keefe is in the process of implementing a new program that will bring area college students and young professionals into the school to work with Dilworth students in special areas of interest including journalism, archeology, computers and biology. The college students will help students make a connection from their daily school work to career choices and paths that they have an interest in, giving them an opportunity to explore those interests in greater detail with someone who shares their passion.

After a recent program at Dilworth, a grandparent leaving the building touched the principal on the arm and said, "Mr. O'Keefe, you are really doing great things here."

A Fun Arts-Filled Evening at Dilworth Traditional Academy

Diane DeNardo

On Wed., April 14, more than 200 hundred Dilworth students and family members came back to school for an evening of fun and food. Students and parents/grandparents watched a Gateway-to-Music School Program, "Story Stew", and were treated to pizza donated by the East Liberty Pizza Hut, thus the name "Story Stew and Pizza Too"! This community-building program brings together students and family members in a fun-filled evening that combines visual arts, drama, movement and music. Professional artists involved the audience both during the program and the follow-up workshop. Youngsters, adults and grandparents got up on stage to paint, sing, play musical instruments and even do pantomime before an enthusiastic audience. Bob O'Keefe, principal at Dilworth Traditional Academy, was approached by Gateway to the Arts, a local non-profit arts organization, to be the host of this pilot program that will be offered to schools throughout the city. The program is funded through the Grable Foundation.

Dear Constituents and Neighbors,

March 23, 1999

The City of Pittsburgh, as you may already know, is working toward the compilation and design of a Regional Parks Master Plan involving all aspects of Riverview, Schenley, Frick, and, of course Highland Park. Plan components, designed by community members, the City's Department of Planning, and a consultant team led by urban designers at LaQuatra Bonci Associates/Michael A. Stern, will range the gamut from expanding recreational opportunities to reforestation to implementing new and enhancing existing landscapes and architectural features. The Highland Park Master Plan Task Force, which has been meeting formally for the last six months or so, will be meeting on Wednesday, May 19th at 7:30 PM in the 1st Floor Conference Room of 200 Ross Street downtown. This meeting will be the most important one to date, introducing the consultant team to Highland Park enthusiasts and giving Task Force members a chance to speak directly to the team and help to shape the vision of the future of Highland Park. All are welcome and encouraged.

All of us are still extremely excited about the preservation of Highland Park Reservoir No. 1 in its current form (and, in fact, including some aesthetic improvements to the fence around the reservoir.) The work schedule for Pittsburgh Water & Sewer Authority with reference to all Highland Park related issues is as follows:

Work on Highland Park Reservoir No.2 (the lower reservoir) should be completed between now and May. This will include such beautification features as tree planting around the gated reservoir and new ornamental fences and lighting. Construction will begin on the microfiltration Hydrocontrol tower and building (which is being built to meet the State environmental regulations which nearly forced the covering of Reservoir No. 1) by the end of May. The project, and all associated construction and re-piping to take place in Highland Park should be completed by May of 2000.

As always, please feel free to call my office with any neighborhood concerns, ideas or complaints that you might have (including such issues as particular abandoned cars and illegally parked trucks). Simply call my office at 255-2140 and register your complaint with one of my staff members and we will handle it as quickly and effectively as possible. Please remember... I work for you! Sincerely,

Councilman Jim Ferlo

(Ed. Note: Councilman Ferlo's note was received too late for the April Newsletter but is still timely.)

HIGHLAND PARK COMMUNITY CLUB 10TH ANNUAL HOUSE TOUR

Sunday June 13, 1999, Noon - 5:00 P.M.

Wanted: Items or services for the Silent Auction in any amount or any monetary value. Call Norma Lipscomb at 362-6562.

Needed: Docents for the homes for 2 ½ hours the day of the tour.

Call Jeanne Mischler at 361-4206.

Highlights of April 15th Meeting

Paula Flaherty

Meeting opened at 7:30

Opening Announcements: East End Cooperative Ministriy is producing an arts festival focused on youth creativity. Muzz Meyers, head of the Highland Park Business District Committee, is also heading up this project and has requested a $500 contribution towards the event. A motion to so do was made, seconded and passed unanimously.

C.O.P. Report: Officer Scalise reported an increased effort to identify and sticker all abandoned vehicles. If the owners are unresponsive, the vehicles will be towed. Kids making noise and entering a vacant building in the 700 block of Mellon were reported and responded to. That building and a few others are scheduled for demolition according to Councilman Ferlo. As always, Officer Scalise encourages residents to call at the C.O.P. station or on her beeper for any reason.

Councilman Ferlo reported that the grant request to clean up Lake Carnegie mentioned at last month's meeting has been submitted. Last Tuesday was Operation Clean Sweep in Highland Park. Several potholes were filled, trash removed, and fire hydrants painted.

Program: Bob O'Keefe, principal at Dilworth Traditional Academy, spoke about what is happening at his school. New this year, Principal O'Keefe is starting some new programs including one which invites college students to link a student's interest in grade school to what the student can do with that interest in terms of college study and the choice of a profession. Principal O'Keefe is also looking for any old photographs or memorabilia which he will copy for an historic display. He invites any community member to drop in for a tour of Dilworth.

Committee Reports:

Highland Park Business District: This year's Marathon Party will feature a "Breakfast on Bryant" in the Walnut Market parking lot, a jazz band, and arts and crafts for kids. Coffee and pastry are being donated by Amy Enrico and her family. Matching funds will be sought to defray the cost of the event. Café Bacci is starting Thursday night jazz plus menu items for under $10. At the Park is expanding its kitchen. The Peppi's/Walnut Market complex will be renovated soon with the help of the HPCDC and the Community Design Center. Finally, the Coffee Shop will open on May 12.

Treasurer's Report: Financial condition of HPCC is good. House Tour Report: The House Tour will be Sunday, June 13 from 12-5:00. Norma is still seeking a few more houses and gardens. A silent auction will be held. Norma made a request for goods and services.

Day Camp: Janice Burgett announced that plans are underway and requested $550 in scholarship money. Request unanimously approved.

Membership: Diane DeNardo reported 475 dues paying members plus 52 complimentary. The second mailing proved to be very successful in getting members to renew.

Reservoir: On schedule for completion by the end of 2000. Construction on Reservoir No. 1 will begin soon.

Welcoming: Bob Starsenic is preparing bags for 85 people who have moved into the neighborhood in the last year. He would like help with getting items, stuffing the bags, and delivery. Please call to volunteer.

New Business:

A request was made by Diane DeNardo to have a party celebrating the 9 year battle to save the reservoir. $500 was approved for the event. More details will follow. Finally, Councilman Ferlo announced that a historical marker for the Snuffer residence on Highland and Jackson has been applied for.

Meeting adjourned at 8:50 P.M.

May Meeting Program

Bruce Robison

Issues related to neighborhood schools and district-wide educational strategies and policies have been prominent at several recent meetings of the HPCC. The program of our next meeting, Thursday, May 20, will be a presentation by and conversation with Pittsburgh School Board member Darlene Harris. Bring your questions, comments, and . . . neighbors!

Candidate Day

On Monday, May 10 at 10:30 a.m., the Vintage Senior Center will present a candidates day to which many of the candidates running in the coming primary are being invited. All are welcome to hear and address the candidates. For more information, call Cheryl Schell at 361-5003 ext. 102.

Port Authority Transit

Ollie Rieley

I received a call from Lynda Conway, Port Authority's Director of Operations Analysis, on March 31. She told me PAT is still working on the issues brought to their attention in the January meeting. They have issued written reminders to the drivers to shutdown engines during layovers and are having the road supervisors do more checking. PAT is working with Councilman Ferlo's Office to identify possible alternate layover spots but it will be some time before permanent changes can be implemented.

1999 HPCC Yard Sale

Sunday June 6 9 AM-?

Every year at this time it seems that there is a neighborhood-wide itch to clean out basements, attics and everything in between. After this chore is done, we take the next logical step and get together for the Annual Neighborhood Yard Sale. Getting all these folks together generates lots of interest all over the areafrom the surrounding neighborhoods to the suburbs and beyond. Last year we distributed about 750 maps and lists of locations of sales to these shoppers.

I will take care of the following:

- advertising in city and regional newspapers and pennysavers (and on telephone poles, in store windows and in offices of anyone who will take them);
- compiling and duplicating lists of house numbers, maps and items for sale;
- distributing the information at two locations in Highland Pork on the day of the sale from 8:55
 A.M. until about noon (if I can get some volunteers I can try three locations); and
- handing out garage sale kits (balloons, signs and lists) to the participating neighbors on Friday afternoon or Saturday morning, so that they can be ready for the hoard of customers on Sunday morning.

So fill in the form and send it and your check made out to HPCC for $12 to Judy Wolfe (that's me) at 5910 Wellesley Ave. by Wednesday June 2. Call me at 441-7830 if you have any questions

Day Camp 99

Janice Burgett

HPCC Day Camp has been providing children with summer fun for over fifty years, and the tradition continues at the Farmhouse with this season kicking off on June 21. Our program is a half-day session from 9:00 to 12:00. The camp runs for six weeks, June 21st - July 29th. Parents are free to choose any or all six weeks. Children from ages four through eight years old are welcome to attend. If you are an HPCC member the weekly fee is $55.00; non-members, $65.00. The children spend their mornings engaging in gross motor games, arts and crafts activities, and swimming twice a week. It's a wonderful way to spend those hazy, lazy, crazy days of summer. If you have any questions, please contact the director, Janice Burgett, at 361-2195. We hope you will join us at the Farmhouse! If you're convinced, just fill out the registration on the next page and send it in!

HIGHLAND PARK MARATHON PARTY

Breakfast on Bryant Street

Muzz Meyers

Sunday, May 2, roll out of bed and join your friends and neighbors for Breakfast-on-Bryant. The Walnut Market parking lot is the place to be for a complimentary buffet of bagels, sweets, juice and coffee as we watch the runners stride by. The coffee and donuts will be compliments of Amy Enrico and our soon to be open coffee shop, Enrico's Tazza d'Oro (look for the grand opening sometime in May). While you munch and gab you can enjoy the funky jazz of the Hardgroove Quintet. Bring your kids because over on Euclid, the folks from Artist and Craftsman Supply, our new neighborhood art supply store on the comer of Highland and Penn Circle South, will be supervising all sorts of fun hands-on art activities for the children. It is truly a great day to hang out with your neighbors and to enjoy the spirit of the neighborhood. We will have a list of the Highland Park runners so you can cheer extra loud when they pass by. See you there!

Jazz at Café Bacci

Muzz Meyers

Every Thursday beginning in May, Café Bacci will be featuring live jazz from 8:00 until midnight. Relax to the sounds of the Hill Jordan Trio and enjoy Chef Daryl Barnes' special Thursday night menu with all entrees under ten dollars. Now doesn't that sound like a great way to spend a Thursday evening!

Around St. Andrew's

Bruce Robison

This year once again the first weekend of May will include what folks around St. Andrew's call our "St. Marathon's Day" service--on Saturday evening, May 1st, at 5:30 p.m. This service is planned for those in our congregation and neighborhood who will be participating in the marathon or related festivities, or who simply find it more convenient not to try any cross-city travel on that busy Sunday morning. All are welcome . . .

Musical events during May at St. Andrew's will include Choral Evensong on Thursday evening, May 6th, beginning at 8 p.m., with a musical program by the "Balkan Singers," an ensemble featuring traditional music of southern Europe

Also in May will be the spring concert of our "ensemble in residence," the Urban Sky Consort, on Saturday evening, May 22nd, at 8 p.m. Urban Sky is a choral ensemble specializing in early music written by women and/or for women's voices. Their reputation is growing through the region, and it's a pleasure to host them right here in Highland Park . .

Other events of interest during May will include an Adult Education Forum at 8 p.m. on Friday, May 7th, featuring Moni McIntyre, from the faculty of Duquesne University, and, from 10 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. on Sunday morning, May 23rd, an "Outreach Fair" featuring the many ministries and social and community outreach relationships supported by the St. Andrew's community

And the kids of St. Andrew's Church School will observe the last day of our regular school year on Sunday, May 16th, with a trip to our neighboring Highland Park institution . . . the Zoo!

St. Andrew's has been a part of this neighborhood since 1906. If you'd like to learn more about services, events, and other programs, please give our Church Office a call at (412) 661-1245. We're always glad to hear from you.

HPCC Grant to Youth Business Initiative

In the April HPCC meeting, approval was given to make a $500 grant to the East End Cooperative Ministry (EECM) Youth Business Initiative. The Youth Business Initiative allows ten inner city students to learn and develop business and entrepreneurial skills by actually creating a small business. The business for this year is an art and music festival for the East Liberty community. Under the direction of Muzz Meyers, Chair of the HPCC Business District Committee and former owner of the Balcony and Hotlicks Restaurants, they have been developing business skills and knowledge, making presentations to corporate funders, meeting and building partnerships within the community; and creating and developing exciting ideas for the festival itself. The goal is to reach out to aspiring artists, musicians, filmmakers, poets, and other creative people and enable them to participate and fulfill a dream. The proposal letter said: "In order to achieve this we need your help. With your support we can make sure that no creative young person will be excluded from the festival for financial reasons. Your sponsorship will also enable us to put on a first rate festival which will be critical for the future of the event as well as our program. It will also help us bring some much-needed positive attention to our East Liberty community. The Highland Park Community Club's participation in our event will make a significant statement about its interest and concern for our community and its young people. By becoming a community sponsor at the $500 level the Highland Park Community Club will be raising the hopes of an entire community and enabling its young people to show the positive contributions they can make when given the opportunity."
